

Rail workers would have their take-home pay increased by as much as $47.75 per month, but O'Brien said a provision requiring carriers to pay a greater portion of the Railroad Retirement System premiums would not mean any more money going into the fund itself to shore up its financial structure.

Cong fire on unarmed US helicopter

SAIGON (UPI) — An unarmed American helicopter carrying Communist peace supervisors to a proposed site for a Vietnamese prisoner of war exchange was fired on Thursday in an area under Viet Cong control, a U.S. spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong officers aboard the helicopter, marked with the bright orange stripes of the peace-keeping Joint Military Commission (JMC), were "noticeably upset" and the crew members had to "settle down" the Communist passengers.

The chopper was one of two on a mission carrying JMC teams to a suggested Vietnamese POW release site near Tam Ky.

The release site is in an area the Viet Cong claims to control. The crew reported about 50 shots were fired at the helicopter but it was not hit. It quickly turned away from the area and the other chopper followed.

Radio Hanoi, monitored in Saigon, charged that the United States was sending reconnaissance planes over North Vietnamese territory and said it was a violation of the Paris peace accords. The charge came less than 24 hours after President Nixon warned that "serious consequences" could follow Communist truce violations.

The broadcast said two U.S. jets flew over the north Monday and that on the following day, another American plane "reconnoitered the coast" along North Vietnam's panhandle. The United States does not comment on Radio Hanoi accusations.

In Washington, Nixon told a news conference Thursday the United States was concerned over Communist military equipment being sent into the South. He said Hanoi "should not lightly disregard such expressions of concern" and warned of "serious consequences" that would follow if the trafficking continued.

Military sources said more than 1,000 Communists were to be released by South Vietnam today at several points around the country. U.S. military sources said the release of Communist war prisoners at Quang Tri City was halted Thursday when 400 of them refused to cross the Thach Han River in boats bearing the flags of South Vietnam. The sources said the release of the first 700 Communist POWs went off without incident.

Irishman loses pub privileges

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Charles Farrell Malone, first Irish-American convicted of guzzling "vice" World War I, faces a bleak St. Patrick's Day.

As conditions of his probation, Malone, 46, can't go to an Irish pub and has to divorce himself from anything Irish for two years.

Malone pleaded guilty to one count of a five-count federal grand jury indictment that included a charge of possessing illegal weapons found in a trunk that broke open while being shipped from San Francisco to Ireland.

On St. Patrick's Day, Malone usually goes to either the Abbey or O'Shea's, two bars in his neighborhood.

"They line up for a block to get into the Abbey," he said.

It won't be the drinking the father of seven will miss most, he said. "I go there for the music."

Malone said, however, the "drinking aspect" of the probation imposed by U.S. District Court

Judge Samuel Conti "bothers me the most."

"That makes every Irish-American look like a drunken booz. Hell, I never drink much. I have a bad stomach."

About the only thing even remotely Irish left open to Malone is attendance at mass.

Malone's attorney, Patrick Hallinan, says the case will be appealed because "freedom of religion and association is involved."

"It's wrong to punish someone for being Irish or Catholic," Hallinan said. "That's something he has no control over and the conditions of probation should be related to the offense."

But Malone says "the church thing doesn't matter much to me."

The walls of Malone's home display pictures of famous Irishmen killed in past struggles and he has scores of photos from the current turmoil in Northern Ireland.

"I can't talk about Northern Ireland," he explained. "That's part of the probation."

Housewives to boycott market meat departments

By United Press International
Managers of supermarket meat departments gave their sympathy Thursday to boycotts by consumers trying to bring down the prices of meat. One manager even admitted he now cuts meat only "once a week."

Women in the San Fernando Valley of Southern California staged a "meatless Thursday" and the meat managers said it was effective.

"The sales have dropped, especially in this area, because of those ladies in Woodland Hills," said the meat manager of a Safeway supermarket. He said he cuts meat "once a week. It used to be steak every day."

Gary Braumelster, meat manager of a Hughes market in the San Fernando Valley, said "Meat is ridiculous."

"Something ought to be done."

However, Braumelster said that because of overseas sales of U.S. beef, he did not believe the boycott would bring down prices.

In Youngstown, Ohio, a group called "Fight Inflation Together" called for meatless days twice a week and a meatless week in April.

"We are housewives who have to feed our families," said Mrs. Edward Cantor, an organizer of the group.

Mrs. Cantor said the idea for her protest began when she complained about prices to a supermarket cashier.

"The cashier told me 'as long as housewives keep buying the prices will stay that way' and she was right," Mrs. Cantor said.

Erma Rust of Oklahoma City has been picking telephone numbers at random and urging the persons at the other end to join her boycott against meat.

"The reaction has been beautiful so far," she said. "Most everyone we talk to agrees to go along with it and many agree to call five friends and tell them."

"I remember during the depression days we didn't see meat very often," Mrs. Rust said. "We ate a lot of beans in those days."

She is asking consumers to shun meat on Tuesday and Thursday and suggests alternative dishes.

In Raleigh, N.C., milk prices are the target on a consumers' boycott. Mrs. Barbara Fyfe, a member of "Consumers on the Warpath" (COW), said milk is 71 cents a half gallon in North Carolina, compared with a national average of 55.9 cents.

Nixon takes swipe at Gray for file release

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon by implication has criticized his embattled nominee for FBI director, L. Patrick Gray III, for turning over to a Senate committee "raw files" on Republican spying activities against the Democrats.

Nixon took the swipe Thursday at Gray, whose nomination as the successor to J. Edgar Hoover, now is being considered by the Senate Judiciary Committee. He said the practice of the FBI "turning files to the committee must stop with this particular one."

Nixon noted at a news conference that Hoover always maintained a "hard line" in dealing with members of Congress "in terms of what he called raw files." The President quoted Hoover as saying leaks of such information to the press "could do innocent people a great deal of damage."

"I understand why Mr. Gray did this—because his hearing was involved," Nixon said. "But I would say this should not be a precedent for the future. The sanctity of those files must be maintained."

Gray gave the Judiciary Committee information last week which showed that Nixon's personal attorney, Herbert W. Kalmbach of Newport Beach, Calif., acting under the direction of former White House aide Dwight L. Chapin, gave $30,000 to $40,000 in Republican campaign funds to Donald Segretti, who allegedly directed political espionage against the Democrats last year.

Gray also said he furnished John W. Dean III, White House counsel, with confidential FBI investigative reports on the break-in and wiretapping by Republican operatives of Democratic national headquarters in Washington last June.

Senate Democrats have threatened to hold up Gray's confirmation as permanent FBI director until Dean comes before the committee to testify. Nixon, however, has invoked the doctrine of "executive privilege" to keep his aides from testifying.

Senior citizens facing benefit cuts; appeal hearing cancelled

Buckman says senior citizens who attempt to make minimum Social Security and SRS benefit checks stretch over increasing costs of living are always at a disadvantage.

Any Social Security increase granted these people automatically means a decrease in SRS benefits so they gain nothing. Those with Social Security or other pensions which are sufficient without welfare, get full benefit of their Social Security increases.

As a result his agency is attempting to help reduce April 1 cuts as much as possible. He said a number of the residents involved have been urged by the Community Action Agency to file protests with the state agency and to prepare information on their own cases for presentation to the hearing officer.

Murdock, Region 5 director of eligibility for SRS, said the Brooks amendment which was adopted several months ago covering federal housing payments was interpreted to mean the housing allowances could not be more than was received as of Dec. 22, 1971.

More recently clarification from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has been issued stating shelter for federal housing tenants could not exceed 25 per cent of their adjusted gross income.

He said in some specific cases the check reductions also take into consideration the 20 per cent Social Security increase of last October or a special increase in January for widows receiving benefits on their husbands' earnings.

Buckman said while the SRS has a logical reason for cutting the benefits, the fact remains many senior citizens will be in difficulty as they have established a living expense pattern based on what they are now getting and in many cases this hardly covers bare essentials.

Mrs. Johnson, who said she was chosen spokesman for her court because she volunteered to help some of the others determine what they will be getting and why, said in her own case she will have to go without many things she now has, such as some food items, and small clothing purchases. She said she could not recall when she last ate a steak.

She said on Aug. 14, she received a letter from the SRS saying her $96 monthly check was being reduced to $79. In two other letters, dated January and February of 1973, she was advised of other reductions. The latest letter, Feb. 18, said the amount as of April 1 will be only $23 a month.

This is a loss of $73 a month. She receives a Social Security check of $112.50 per month, based on her own earnings.

Her rent payments are $31.50 (including sanitation services) per month but will increase in July. Last year, through an error in computing her income, she was charged $48 per month rent and is hoping to get credit for a maximum $48 a month rent allowance under SRS.

She is 70 years of age and resides in a single bedroom Sunny View Court home.

"I am not asking for something I do not deserve, but if they could just leave my check at the same level instead of cutting it I would get by even though my food and other living costs have gone up," she said.

She buys $36 worth of food items with $26 in food stamps each month and must pay $5 a month for lawn care in the summer. Mrs. Johnson has a drug assistance of $20 per month for high blood pressure medication but must pay for her own ulcer medicine and for a special ulcer diet.

"I have tried to get work all of my life. I have worked in restaurants but as soon as I apply and they find I am 70 years of age, they lose interest," she said.

Mrs. Johnson said her husband's 30 years of illness before his death used up the family savings and there was no insurance.

"I did not want to ask for welfare," she said, "but there was no other way. Now it looks as if I won't even have that."

Mable Kessler, who is 77, also lives in Sunny View Courts and pays the same rate of rent. She is the sole support of herself and an 8 year-old great-grandchild whom she has had since birth. Her Social Security check is $44.40 per month. She was getting $68 in SRS checks when a case worker interviewed her and increased it to $81. Then, she said, it was increased again to $102.

"I didn't ask for that increase and was getting along alright without it," she said.

However, the SRS now advises her the checks will be cut to $46 a month. This leaves $130 for the two to live on a month. The little girl is now in school and her costs are increasing. She would be satisfied with $81 or even the $68, she said.

Mrs. Kessler said she has never asked for anything for the child and will not as long as she can get by. She said she could probably go out and care for other children but feels the care of her own great-grandchild comes first and she does not want to leave her to the care of others.

Mrs. Kessler did not comment on what she thought her chances for work are at age 77.

Avalanche danger in mountains high

HAILEY — High avalanche prone conditions continue on the north slopes within the Stanley Basin, Sawtooth Valley and upper Wood River areas.

According to the weekly snow condition report released today by Frank Rowland, recreation assistant for the Sawtooth National Recreation area, during the past week, the areas have received from one to six inches of new snow.

The snowfall, coupled with at least two days of sustained 16 to 22 mile per hour winds from the northwest, may have increased the snow load on the southeast slopes, Rowland said.

However, he said with rapid changes in temperature from day to night, causing freezing and thawing, the snow pack on the south, east and southeast slopes will continue to stabilize.

Cross country skiing has been listed as good. Rowland said snowmobiling conditions appear to be improving as the snow pack stabilizes and provides a firmer base.

The recreation assistant reminded back country users that next week will be National Wildlife Week.

In the winter, he said skiers and snowmobilers have an unusual opportunity to view wildlife at a close range. However, he requested recreationalists to discover wildlife but maintain a distance from the animal in order not to alarm it. Any expenditure of energy by the animal is critical in the winter because it cannot easily be replaced, Rowland said. He also reminded persons using the back country to pack their litter out with them.

Diversion said threat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho Sen. James McClure has warned the Senate that an amendment that could divert highway trust funds for rail mass transit would result in a decrease in money allocated for highways in rural America.

He told his colleagues Thursday that proponents of the amendment are "deceiving either themselves or the people of the non-urban states."

He said, "There is no way that the highway trust fund can do the job they've set up for it."

Nebraska rescinds ERA vote

By United Press International
Nebraska rescinded its own ratification of the equal rights amendment Thursday in a move that some observers consider invalid.

Connecticut Thursday ratified the amendment, the 29th state to do so. If the Nebraska action is upheld, it would reduce the number to 28 states. For the amendment to become part of the U.S. Constitution, approval by 38 states is needed.

Nebraska's one-house legislature approved the amendment a year ago in a rush to be the first state to do so, although it was beaten by Hawaii. The vote to rescind, following 10 minutes of debate, was 31-17.

Speaker Richard Proulx who initiated the measure said "All of Nebraska's protective legislation for women would be wiped out. The only thing the amendment can do is visit more obligations on women."

Nebraska's only state legislator, Sen. Shirley Marsh, said "I hate to have Nebraska become the laughing stock of the nation by taking an action I consider illegal."

Secretary of State Allen Beerman forwarded copies of the rescinding action to Washington, but said Congress would have to decide its fate.

"They're the ones who have to either accept or reject it," he said.

Nebraska Attorney General Clarence Meyer issued an opinion earlier that the ratification could not be undone.

Trips set for Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon may take two overseas trips this year and Latin America, Europe and Africa are the areas under consideration.

At a news conference Thursday, the President said he had no immediate plans to travel, but he added that officials of the State Department and the National Security Council had advised him on several areas they considered important for him to visit.

In order, he listed Europe, Latin America and Africa. "We are considering the possibility of a trip sometime shortly before this summer and another one in the fall," Nixon said.

North Viet warning carries reminder of U.S. position

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's warning to North Vietnam to consider the record of the past four years and halt cease-fire violations carries an implicit reminder that U.S. bombers remain in Thailand and U.S. aircraft carriers still steam the Tonkin Gulf.

So far, Nixon has made no move to actually resume the use of air power against the north. But about 550 Air Force and Navy war planes, including approximately 200 B-52 bombers, stand poised for instant action if the President orders it.

The mere tone of Nixon's warning indicated to many officials the President has thought about the possibility of using this force if he had to do so, and was not engaging in idle saber rattling.

Nixon's comments, made in a news conference Thursday, were the strongest official public reference since the Jan. 27 cease-fire to the continued presence of American military might in Indochina as a hedge against Communist cease-fire violations.

What bothers Nixon and other U.S. officials so much is the fact that since the cease-fire there has been no decrease in the flow of tanks, troops and equipment down the Ho Chi Minh Trail from North Vietnam. Precisely where this material is going remains a mystery.

The Pentagon has reported some 30,000 fresh troops, about 300 battle tanks, heavy artillery, armored personnel carriers and other supplies and equipment moving down the trail. At least some of it, U.S. officials feel, has been hidden in the old Communist jungle-based areas inside South Vietnam and along its borders.

These new forces could pose a major threat to the government troops of South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos should the Communists try to launch an offensive once U.S. air and sea power in Southeast Asia are reduced, American analysts believe.

Nixon's expression of public concern added emphasis to private U.S. protests lodged this week through diplomatic channels in Paris and in Saigon. American sources said the private protests so far seem to have had little, if any, effect.

"I would only suggest," Nixon, told reporters, "that based on my actions over the past four years, the North Vietnamese should not lightly disregard such expressions of concern."

For the President to resort to military force now would be a drastic step, because the United States has firmly committed itself to a policy of ending hostilities in Southeast Asia rather than prolonging them.

But should Nixon decide

diplomatic efforts and public warnings are not enough this time, there are six distinct levels of military pressure he could apply. In increasing order of severity, they are:

Withdrawal of the U.S. mine sweeping task force. This might be more symbolic than real pressure because most of the mines planted last year are now harmless and a few ships already are moving in and out of Haiphong harbor.

Renewed mining. This "passive" measure, the most extreme action the President could take without attacking personnel, would seal up

Haiphong again and deny North Vietnam vital food and war material shipments by sea just as they are about to be resumed.

Bombing strikes against the new equipment and troops still actually moving down the Ho Chi Minh Trail. This would hit directly at the activity that so worries the United States.

Bombing of Communist based areas in South Vietnam and along its borders, where much of the new equipment is believed hidden, and of the areas in the south held by an estimated 150,000 to 200,000 North Vietnamese troops.

Bombing of the North Vietnamese panhandle, from which Communist troops in the northern part of South Vietnam receive direct support. U.S. analysts report fuel pipelines, roads and rail lines in this area have been rebuilt since the cease-fire.

Bombing of the Hanoi and Haiphong areas, and along the rail lines leading north to China. This would be the most drastic level of military action.

Road job awarded

BOISE (UPI) — Pascoe and Ledford Construction Co. of Marsing has been awarded a road maintenance contract for the Jarbidge area in the Butte of Land Management's Boise District.

Carl Streng, Boise district engineer, said today that Pascoe and Ledford submitted the low bid of $3,300 for grading and ditch work on approximately 80 miles of stock access roads.

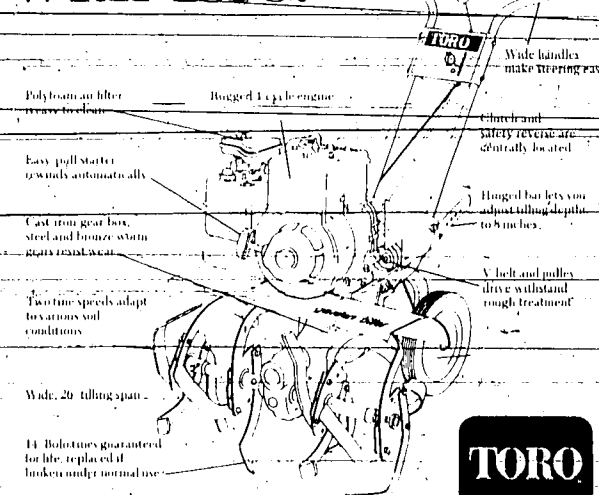

He said that the maintenance work is necessary each spring to make the network of unimproved dirt roads useable for stockmen.

BUHL. — The Buhl Moose lodge has set Sunday as the day for its annual Bohemian Dinner.

Serving will be between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. at the Buhl Moose Home. The meal will feature jaternice, a pork dish; klobasn, Bohemian wieners; potato dumplings, sauerkraut, rolls, a variety of salads, vegetable and meats, and Kolache, a dessert roll.

The annual dinner was started several years ago because of the Czechoslovakian influence in the surrounding area. Traditional dress will be worn by Moose members. The project is one which involves the total lodge, even the children.

Music during the day will be furnished by Leonard Vitek and Rudy Severa.

The event will also feature a bazaar with handmade articles and produce.

Mrs. Henry Witek, general chairman, said tickets would be available at the door.

BIRTH. — Western Australian (UPI) — Birdies are usually scored by golfers, but at Pemberton, 209 miles south of here, Basil Richards hit a birdie while playing lawn bowls.

Richards bowled to the kitty and hit a swallow, with fatal results. "It must have been looking for a worm and didn't see the ball," he said.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl who has had two illegitimate children which I gave up for adoption. I am sorry to say that I am pregnant again, and I plan to give this one up for adoption too, because the father of my children can't marry me. He was sent to prison, then I found out he had a wife and five kids he never told me about, so maybe it's just as well that things worked out this way.

I want to put my past behind me and start a new life, Abby, but here is my problem. I have very bad stretch marks on my stomach as a result of my pregnancies. They look terrible and I want to get rid of them.

I have been advised that if I meet someone who wants to marry me I should not mention my past, but with these stretch marks it would be a dead giveaway. Also, I would like to be able to wear a two-piece bathing suit. Can you help me? Or am I?

Past marks

DEAR SCARRED: A plastic surgeon can tell you if your stretch marks can be removed. And in the meantime you had better learn how to take care of yourself. I think you've been stretching your luck too far.

DEAR ABBY: I am so worried about my grandson who is 14. Tonight his mother telephoned me long distance in such a weakened state I could hardly understand her. Her 14-year-old son had struck her and beaten her violently with his fists. In the past he has lied and stolen from her, but no amount of punishment helped. Tonight he all but put my poor daughter in the hospital.

She has two children. The little girl is an angel, but this boy is, I fear, a mental case when angered. He is big and strong for his age and I am afraid one day he will seriously injure or kill some member of the family. Both children are adopted (different parents); could it be hereditary? Please tell me how I can help her? Her husband travels a great deal and she cannot handle the boy. HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: Tell your daughter to get in touch with her local Mental Health Association, or the County Child Welfare Department, and arrange to have her son psychiatrically evaluated. Assure her that she would not be punishing the boy; she would be helping a desperately sick lad.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow with a darling, affectionate little seven-year-old daughter. A very nice gentleman I met at work asked to take me out for dinner, and I was thrilled to pieces. When he came to pick me up my little girl hung on his neck and said, "Are you going to be my new daddy?" The gentleman turned red in the face and said, "Well, we have to be going now." I could see he was embarrassed and upset, and even though I enjoyed the evening and he seemed to, he has never asked me out again.

What can I do to save the relationship?

26-YEAR-OLD WIDOW

DEAR WIDOW: You could invite him to accompany you to something, but if he appears reluctant, don't press it. And if you don't want to scare off future prospects, you'd better tell your little girl what not to say.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FULL OF PIMPLES": Surely you jest! The advice of your more "experienced" friends on how to get rid of pimples is worse than worthless. It's dangerous. Forget it, or you could find yourself with something much worse than pimples.

Problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Review presented

"TWIN FALLS 'The Winthrop Woman'" by Anya Seton was reviewed by Helen Carpenter at a Wednesday meeting of the Booklore Literary Art Guild.

The meeting was at the home of Doris Williams.

The story is about Elizabeth Winthrop, her life and times, during the years 1617 to 1655 and is set in the Massachusetts Bay Colony and the settlements of New Netherlands.

Colored chalk drawings by Ruth Vandenberg and Lillie Brown were displayed. Trena Vandenberg gave the added thought and Marion Crockett gave the author's sketch.

Special guests included Nancy Rappleye, Edna Reed, Elva Hubbard, Karen Burke and Sandra Garrus.

Mary Arrington and Velma Cox were hostesses.

The next meeting is April 11 at the home of Wynona Glandjean. Velma Cox will review the book "Eleanor and Franklin."

Area journalists receive honors

GOODING — Student journalists in Gooding and Minidoka counties won honors in the annual University of Idaho High School Press conference last week.

In staff writing contests, "The Senator," the Gooding High School paper, received first place in feature writing for duplicated newspapers.

The outstanding girl editor award, an honor sponsored by the Idaho Press Women, was awarded Chris Goodman, editor of the Minidoka High School publication. An awards presentation Saturday night completed two days of press convention sessions which attracted about 500 high school students from around the state.

The conference is sponsored annually by the University to encourage and assist high school journalists in furthering news careers.

Caldesac, Meridian and Sandpoint high schools won top honors for the best publications.

Club elects

TWIN FALLS — Unity Club officers were elected during the unit's annual Spring potluck luncheon at the home of Mrs. Benno Deters.

Mrs. Ira Hoffman was elected president; Mrs. W. L. Buchanan, vice president; Mrs. Max VanAusdela, secretary, and Mrs. James Messersmith, treasurer.

Mrs. Werner Krammer was a guest. The April 11 meeting is with Mrs. Van Ausdela, 171 Van Buren St., with Mrs. L. E. Sweet assisting. Mrs. Hoffman is in charge of the program.

Daniel Chafin, son of the bridegroom, was best man. David Wesley Anderson,

A luncheon for family members was served at the home of the bride, following the ceremony.

The couple took a short trip to Sun Valley. As soon as the ranch home of the bridegroom in Pasadena Valley, south of King Hill, is remodeled, the couple will reside on the ranch.

The bride is an employee of the Idaho State Bank, Glenn's Ferry. The bridegroom is a past Union Pacific Railroad employee and now a part-time employee and a rancher.

THE BON MARCHE

God aids, even in 'dry' time

By DALE EVANS ROGERS

I suppose that in a way I had a "right" to feel self-pity. Within a year's time Roy and I lost our child Robin; then my own father died; and now I was suffering this miserable disease which made me so blue that I could not even pray.

Yet it was in the midst of this dry period that God showed me how He will always help us handle despondency — if we allow Him.

The lesson came through my illness.

Over a period of several days I kept hearing a strange ringing noise inside my head, like chimes. It was annoying. Once right in the middle of a dinner party the strangest thing happened. I began to see two of everything. My head spun and later while sitting on the piano stool I passed out.

In the hospital I learned I had an infection of the inner ear, with complications. But knowing the cause didn't make the symptoms any easier to take, it was exactly like being horribly seasick.

After the worst of the symptoms subsided I had to struggle like a baby with the art of walking. From the edge of my bed to the bureau, holding onto the back of a chair — that was a victory.

By the time I got back home my despondency was at its worst. And it was just here that God began to work with me. He asked me to help someone else.

A friend from our church telephoned to say that her two-year-old baby boy had just drowned. Knowing that we had lost a child, she wondered if I would come over to talk.

So, dizzy and miserable, needing still to hold onto anything handy, I made my way outside and over to our friend's house.

She opened the door and I could identify so well with the benumbed look, the red-rimmed eyes. Her husband too had been crying. We sat in their living room as she told me how their baby had found a loose board in the picket fence surrounding their swimming pool and had crawled through. By the time they missed him it was too late.

"Oh, Dale, Dale. God gave you help when you lost Robin. Can we ask His help now?" And of course we did. As I left their home that day, some of my own physical symptoms seemed lessened. I walked a little bit straighter, carried less of a weight upon my soul.

It was the very next Sunday and I was trying slowly to get ready for church. Four of our children were at home and we were going through the usual bedlam of getting them properly dressed.

In the midst of all this confusion the front door burst open and an old friend walked right in. Both from the smell and from the looks of him it was obvious that John had been drinking.

"Roy — Dale, I need help and I need it now. Please, don't send me away. Help me."

As we met in the vestibule, first John and then the mother offered some comment about how God had sent me to them at just the right moment.

"Oh no," I said. "You've got it backwards. He sent you to help me."

Each of us smiled, sure that he was the one who understood correctly the ways of the Lord.

Export talks slated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate hearings on the impact of log exports to Japan or domestic lumber prices have been scheduled for Washington, D.C., San Francisco and Portland, Ore., Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., said today.

Packwood said hearings would be held March 26 and 27 in Washington, April 11 in Portland and April 13 in San Francisco.

The hearings will be held by the International Finance Subcommittee of the Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee. The subcommittee is chaired by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif.

Packwood has introduced legislation calling for a halt to the export of logs to Japan, but the hearings are intended to explore the problem in general rather than the bill itself.

The Packwood bill would call for an almost immediate halt to all exports of logs from federal lands and would phase out exports of timber from privately owned lands at the rate of 25 per cent a year.

AMC asks pollution ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American Motors has joined its three larger competitors in the industry in telling the government it is impossible to meet the auto pollution standards due to go into effect in 1975.

American Motors Vice President John F. Adamson asked the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to grant a one-year delay.

"We have, and are, applying maximum and good faith efforts" to meet the standards, Adamson said. But "we cannot achieve full compliance."

Adamson said the firm "had engine and exhaust emission personnel working 46 Saturdays and 32 Sundays during the past year" in hopes of reaching the government-ordered level of emissions.

Previously, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler had said they could not meet the standard fully and requested a delay.

Judge dismisses antitrust suit

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — An antitrust suit filed by Motorola Inc. against a rival electronics firm, Fairchild Camera and Instrument Corp., was dismissed Tuesday by U.S. District Court Judge William Copley.

After hearing eight weeks of secret testimony, Copley ruled there was no evidence of conspiracy by Fairchild against Motorola. Motorola claimed Fairchild lured away eight of its top executives in an effort to gain trade secrets. Trial of the suit was closed to protect trade secrets of the two firms.

The suit was filed in August, 1968, after Dr. C. Lester Hogan resigned as chief executive of Motorola's semiconductor division here to become president, chief executive officer and director of Fairchild, which is based in Mountain View, Calif. Seven of Hogan's top aides followed him to Fairchild.

Copley said the eight men were free to resign at any time from Motorola "and for any reason or no reason at all." He rejected Motorola's contention Fairchild hoped to gain trade secrets, saying the alleged secrets had been revealed in the marketed product, fully disclosed by issued patents or where generally known to those skilled in the industry or the trade.

SBA offers loans

BOISE (UPI) — The administrator of the Small Business Administration has announced many Vietnam veterans may be eligible for SBA loans if they cannot get suitable loans from regular banks without meeting unreasonable terms.

Thomas S. Kleppe, administrator, said veterans who are eligible are those who served after October, 1964.

The said terms of the loans are the same as the SBA uses to encourage minority group members to go into business, on the basis that veterans, like minority group members, have not had an opportunity to accumulate capital.

The economic opportunity loan program for veterans begun in 1972 allows the SBA to make loans of up to $50,000 with equity requirements of as low as 10 to 15 per cent and the veteran may take 15 years to repay the loan.

Food chains say meat buying off

WASHINGTON (UPI) — While it still says it's against placing controls on rising meat and livestock prices, the Cost of Living Council nevertheless has prepared a staff report on how to go about it if this policy changes.

Meanwhile, the National Association of Food Chains reported that meat purchases were off as much as 16 percent last week at some supermarkets around the country, suggesting that many consumers may be backing away from buying beef because of prices.

President Nixon met with members of the Cost of Living Council's food committee Wednesday, including Agriculture Secretary Earl W. Butz, to discuss rising food prices. A spokesman said afterward, "We're not gearing up for any major change in the regulations."

The White House has opposed controlling prices of livestock or other raw agricultural products.

A spokesman said the council ordered the contingency meat freeze study Feb. 20 and reviewed the completed study March 6 but decided not to make any recommendations on it. The study outlined possible methods—for example freezing prices at the producer, processor and retailer levels or only at the last two.

The food chain association said its information on declining meat purchases was based on informal checks with chains on the telephone and that a more comprehensive study was planned.

The association said in a statement that "nothing could possibly be more harmful" than a government move to freeze or roll back beef prices.

"The government should simply let higher prices perform their economic role of discouraging consumption which would back up supplies and put downward pressure on wholesale and farm prices," it said.

"This is really the only answer to high prices."

The Agriculture Department retreated partially Wednesday from an earlier proposal to eliminate subsidies such as pork, snouts, goat tongues, chicken livers, spleens, tripe and chicken skin from hot dogs.

Instead it proposed a plan, which is still open for public comment, that these could be used if packages were labeled with terms like "frankfurter with byproducts" or "frankfurter with variety meats."

A House Agriculture subcommittee plans two days of hearings next week on the extent to which the farmers or middlemen are responsible for high food prices.

Andrus advocates consumer education

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho Gov. Cecil D. Andrus told the third annual Western Dairy Conference Thursday that better education of the consumer will be the key to improving the efficiency of western dairy marketing.

After noting the integral role dairy farming plays in the total picture of Idaho agriculture, Andrus told the group in welcoming remarks that they face a variety of challenges.

Citing a Department of Agriculture survey of 2,200 homemakers across the United States, Andrus said "The responses I think should illustrate to you not only the need for better advertising, but the need for better comprehensive education of the consumer about milk."

The United States Department of Agriculture survey indicated a great deal of ignorance about milk, its fat content and its relation to good health on the part of many consumers.

"In light of this survey, I find it somewhat surprising that per capita consumption of dairy products hasn't dropped rapidly in recent years," Andrus said.

The governor urged those at the conference to develop a new understanding of what it takes to educate the consumer and to come up with innovative ideas that will reflect more than just a new attempt to sell a product through more clever advertising.

"You can develop some new ideas on how to educate the consumer, so as to insure a continued expansion in consumption of milk and milk products, you not only will be doing Idaho a great service, but yourselves and all the states you represent," the governor said.

The silk in a spider's web is one of the strongest materials known, having a tensile strength greater than steel.

Lincoln FB sets meetings

SHOSHONE — A multi-county meeting of Farm Bureau planned March 32 at the Jerome County officers, Mrs. Ervin Braun, North Shoshone, announced.

A district meeting will be at the Wood Cafe, Jerome, at 7 p.m. March 20. All board members, all committee members and other interested persons are invited to attend.

Lincoln County organization will pay the no-host luncheon for all who attend from Lincoln County.

At a county meeting this week, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Mills and Don Roberts reported on meetings they attended recently in Boise.

While in Boise, members attended sessions of the legislature.

Larry Braun, Young Farmer and Rancher chairman, assisted by Don Roberts, presented plans for organizing county members for this group. Mrs. Ward Mills, women's chairman, announced winners of the safety poster contest in the county and prizes to be given were selected.

Robert Sexton, district 3 fieldman, explained a proposed advertising project in which members decided to participate. The April 5 meeting will be in the evening.

TWIN FALLS — Secondary school teachers of Gooding, Jerome and Twin Falls will be introducing information on venereal disease prevention into classroom studies in the near future.

As part of a pilot program for the state, 30 secondary teachers from the three counties have just completed an eight week training course at the College of Southern Idaho. During the course they were instructed by Dr. Wayne Carle in procedure of combating the venereal disease epidemic through better education of high school students.

Information presented during the course covered both medical and social aspects of venereal disease. Teachers will be bringing various phases of the training into their regular classroom work in biology and social courses.

Bill Overton, Boise, coordinator for the program said the health and educational officials have agreed this is a better method of presenting the information than in a special program which is more apt to disrupt the regular study course.

Dr. Carle said about 25 percent of Idaho's reported venereal disease cases involve secondary school age youth.

The course offered teachers is a positive step in providing educators with basic knowledge about social diseases. We expect teachers to present the classroom material in much the same manner as instruction is now given on drugs, alcohol and tobacco," Dr. Carle said.

Similar courses are expected to follow in Coeur d'Alene and other areas of the state.

Dr. Carle and Overton agreed the trial program here appears to be successful for all secondary teachers could result in reduction of social diseases through a better understanding by the young students.

A thought for the day: British writer Mortimer Collins said, "A man is as old as he's feeling; a woman as old as she looks."

Hazelton fete set

HAZELTON-EDEN — Open house for the Hazelton Grade School is set for 7:30 p.m. March 26, according to Mrs. Keith Huettig, Valley PTA president.

The open house will be conducted following the regular business meeting, she said.

PTA officers for the coming year will be nominated at the meeting, but will not be voted upon until the April meeting. Anyone interested in serving in any of the positions may call Mrs. Huettig and she will see that the names will be put into nominations.

Members will also vote on the new procedures for the coming year that were proposed at the February meeting held at the Valley High School. The proposals concern support of the children's carnival, teacher's reception, and food booth at the July 4th celebration, scholarships, and schedules for next year's meetings.

Budget approved

HANSEN — The Hansen City Council approved the 1973 budget at a meeting Wednesday night with no residents protesting.

The 1973 budget total is $26,836 compared to last year's budget of $25,000. This year's budget does not include revenue sharing funds.

George Urie and Jim Hopkins, council members, were appointed to meet with the county planning and zoning commission April 12. They will discuss a possible ordinance governing mobile homes and zoning in Kimberly.

Beer recovered

BELLEVUE — Four cases of beer, stolen early this morning from the Silver Dollar Bar and Cafe, Bellevue, have been recovered.

According to city marshal Duane Dudley, the theft occurred between 2:45 and 4:30 a.m. Entry into the building was made by breaking out a window in the men's restroom located on the south side of the building.

Dudley recovered the beer about 7:20 a.m. from an abandoned shed several blocks from the business.

No arrests have yet been made. The investigation will be continued, Dudley said.

Hereford bull judged grand champion at sale

FILER — A Hereford bull from Naugle Hereford Ranch, Nampa, was judged grand champion of the 34th Annual Idaho Cattlemen's Spring sale at the Filer Fairgrounds, Thursday.

The grand champion, "Britisher," a coming 2-year-old, was presented by Kenneth Naugle.

"Vern Promino," also a coming 2-year-old, was judged reserve champion. The bull was shown by Ernest Olsen and Soils, Logan, Utah.

The grand champion and the reserve champion, along with 169 other Hereford bulls from Idaho, Washington and Utah will be sold today at the Filer fairgrounds.

According to Bob Henderlider, executive vice president of the Idaho Cattlemen's Association, there are 28 "A" bulls, 51 "A" bulls, 56 "B" bulls and 33 "B" bulls to be auctioned.

Henderlider said a five-man judging committee examined all bulls entered for auction Wednesday and disallowed those that did not meet standards for the sale.

Henderlider said overweight bulls tended to be less virile and less active in breeding. Any bull with serious foot problems was also disallowed as a poor breeding risk as lack of mobility would limit their range and activity, he added.

Dismissing the Filer auction as the oldest and the biggest in the West, Henderlider said most of the bulls to be auctioned would be used for range breeding.

A lot of these bulls are production tested," Henderlider said. "Proven producers of calves that will grow faster and put on weight faster."

Graders for the auction were Piero Piva, Challis; Bill Ross, Jordan Valley, and Wade Wells, animal husbandman at the University of Idaho.

Idaho Cattlemen's Bull Committee chairman Jim Faulkner, Bliss, is manager of the sale.

Valley home plan reviewed

GOODING — Plans for a new 30-home sub-division in the Hagerman area were reviewed Thursday night by the Gooding County Planning Commission.

The Duncobine Sub-Division will be located southeast of Hagerman and is planned for development by Accurate Systems, Twin Falls. Large lots sizes of 77 by 97 feet up to 150 by 200 feet are proposed. Roadways within the sub-division call for a 0.6 inch gravel base.

The Gooding County commissioners, who first received the plat turned it over to the planning commission for inspection. County planning commission members will request further information and refer the plat to the city of Hagerman.

The plat will be discussed again in the planning group's March 29 meeting.

Severt Swenson presented a proposed building code to the planning commission for consideration. Swenson said "the only way to control anybody is to pass a law."

He said the code will be rural oriented and will require permits be obtained before any building over a minimum size can be added in the county. A building inspector would be hired to enforce the code. The county commissioners would serve as a board of appeals.

The county planning commission agreed to send the proposed code to the Health Department, Farm Home Administration, building contractors and electricians for opinions.

Disagreement was expressed Thursday night as to whether a building code is advisable.

Two new members were accepted by the planning commission. They are Ed Gunning, Wendell, and Wayne Matthews, Gooding.

Chairman Robert Bolte, Jr., announced the state Planning and Community Affairs Agency will present a slide series on state planning Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Gooding County Courthouse.

On Friday the same showing will be featured at a noon luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club. It will be shown again at 8 p.m. Friday in the Bliss High School gymnasium.

Lincoln aides vary opinions

SHOSHONE — There is a difference of opinion among some of Lincoln County officials regarding percentage of market value on real property placed on county tax rolls.

Lincoln County Treasurer Myron D. Johnson, Mrs. Jeff Rapp, deputy treasurer, and a deputy assessor, Mrs. C. F. Chaffield, presented the county commissioners with a written request that valuations on the tax rolls be at 100 per cent of assessed valuation rather than the 80 per cent figure applied by Assessor Sanford Connell.

Johnson said the request was made to clarify minutes of the January County Commissioners meeting wherein it was indicated that all of the officers had concurred in agreement for the 80 per cent figure base.

He said the 20 per cent reduction is illegal, as it reflects a heavier assessment on public utilities and that it was originally allowed during re-evaluation of county property which is now complete.

Some of the utilities are paying taxes under protest and threatening court action to handle their interests.

Assessor Connell states the county assessor has the "legal option" to apply the ratio as he deems necessary and contends that the 20 per cent reduction affords further tax relief to what he calls the "already overburdened taxpayer in the county."

Gov. Andrus lauds Gem lawmakers for progress

He termed the merger bill, which he had proposed in his "state of the state" address on the first day of the session, a "major piece of legislation" and also expressed satisfaction with the anti-pornography measure that made it through both houses in the final days of the session.

But Andrus said he would meet with representatives of the attorney general's office and Department of Water Administration before deciding whether to sign the stream channel and lake encroachment acts.

"Right now I have not reached a decision," he said. He added there were "drafting problems" with the measures.

Among the disappointments of the legislature, Andrus told newsmen, was the failure of the session to approve state funds for the repairing of the American Falls dam roadway and the death of the kindergarten measures that were introduced.

The governor also expressed some concern over a measure that passed in the last days of the session that cuts off voter registration nine days prior to election day. The current law cuts off registration at two days, and Andrus said that change would be a "great deal of help" to "paper shufflers" in the state.

But he did not say whether he would sign the measure or veto it.

The governor has 10 days from the close of the session to veto any legislation that crosses his desk.

Governor to protect Idaho judicial branch

(Special to the Times-News)

BOISE — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said Thursday he would "bail out" the judicial branch of state government "before I'll let them close down."

He made his remark at a post legislative session news conference, and was also critical of Republicans who have called on him to rescind his general fund spending backlog to help the judiciary.

Chief Justice Charles Donaldson told the legislature in its last days that it had $44,500 in supplemental funding for the court system for the last three months of the year, district court would be curtailed in 20 counties due to a lack of travel money for judges and court reporters.

But the legislature approved only $46,500 of the requested supplemental funds, with the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee co-chairman telling his colleagues the courts had sufficient money to get along without the additional money.

Andrus said he had made no final decision about what action he would take with the judiciary and added he wanted to see "final figures" from the court. He said the information he had seen amounted to "approximate figures."

In an interview earlier in the week, the governor had said there were at least three courses of action available for the funding. The first would be for him to declare an emergency, allowing him to use emergency funds. In addition, he said, he thought the court could enter an order against the state treasury for the money it needed to remain in business.

He also said he could rescind his ordered 1.5 per cent general fund spending holdback for the judiciary, but doubted he would because, he said, the legislature overappropriated general fund money a year ago.

At his press conference, Andrus was again critical of the Republicans who have criticized his holdback, saying they had "covered every base several times."

Earlier in the week he had said that the figures of the legislation revenue projections committee had finally determined there would be a $11 million surplus only if the holdback were in effect. Earlier, he claimed Republicans had said there would be a large surplus.

Blaine study progress aired at meet

By TERRY CAMPBELL, Times-News writer

HATLEY — Progress of Blaine County School Program and Facilities Study was detailed before the general study committee Thursday night.

In attendance were about 60 committee members and interested residents; dean B. J. Chandler of the school of education of Northwestern University; district board of trustees chairman William Maltry and trustee Ronda Hunt; acting superintendent Ray Jefferson; and Walter Hoessel, on site coordinator for the Northwestern University directed study towards a new district high school.

The study has been divided into sub-committees, each covering a different aspect of school planning and with a set date for task completion.

Member Emory Dietrich presented the instructional program committee report on behalf of chairman John Belfon.

Dietrich said the committee was examining the major fields of study and proposed courses indicated on the community questionnaire. The individual courses have been applied against a list of course provisions, he said, including general course content, allied services, instructional materials needed, accountability and evaluation procedures, personnel requirements, building needs and career implications.

The committee has researched the possibility of offering more courses of study than the present high school.

Dietrich said, with the curriculum changes based on what will serve the majority of the community.

The site selection committee, with chairman Harve Bickett, reported three sites have been proposed, including Ohio Gulch, north of Hatley and the present high school grounds, which is being studied by one committee group.

Bickett said the committee will also seek proposals for any additional sites.

Chairman Donald Haines for the architect selection committee said a list of 30 architects who have submitted brochures had been narrowed down to five firms.

A questionnaire will be mailed to each architect to determine ability to perform, background and possession of errors and omission insurance.

Haines said. Further consideration will be given to the on job inspector the firm will provide, including his background and qualifications, he said.

The committee chairman said after the committee evaluates the questionnaires, two architects names will be submitted to the board of trustees. The committee will also recommend the board interview the applicants and devote one day to each applicant for a field trip to view his work.

Chairman Jefferson said the finance committee is examining federal, state and county revenue sources but said the possibility of receiving federal funds has almost been eliminated.

Two financial aspects of the new school will be researched,

Jefferson said, how to build the physical plant and, after completion, how maintain it on a year to year basis. Specific committee work will follow site selection and determination of the type of building, he said.

For the questionnaire analysis committee, Hoessel reported on behalf of chairman Dr. Art Richards. He said the committee was presently processing initial questionnaires returned and within about two months will publish preliminary results, indicating community ambitions for the new school based on the questionnaires.

Mark Patterson, reporting for population committee chairman Don Bennett, said the committee was working to develop a vehicle to gather information on projected population trends of growth in the Wood River Valley.

A special meeting of the school study committee will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Wood River High School, Hatley.

The session will feature Dean Everett Samuelson of the college of education of the University of Idaho; Dean Chandler; and Dr. Wayne Phillips of the State Department of Public Instruction.

Dean Samuelson and Dean Chandler will describe plans for cooperation between their respective institutions in the Blaine County school study.

Dr. Phillips will outline the next steps to be taken in completion of the Idaho Needs Assessment Program, which has been used throughout the state.

Miller fires 66, leads Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Young Johnny Miller shot a six-under-par 66 to take one stroke lead in the $130,000 Jacksonville Open Thursday but had to share the spotlight with Doug Sanders, who birdied seven of 12 holes using a twofor for a putter.

Sanders broke his putter over his knee when he missed a six-foot putt that put him two over par after six holes of play. Unable to use it anymore, Sanders went to the two-iron and stunned the gallery by reeling off four straight birdies.

The colorful, 39-year-old Sanders missed an eagle putt from 14 feet the first time he used the club and then sank putts of 16, 10 and 25 feet in his next three efforts. He also sank 12 and 10 footers and then a 20 footer on the final hole to finish with a five-under-par 67.

The six-foot two-inch 170 pounder who now plays out of Hilton Head, S.C., said afterward "it was an easy 66, just a fun round." He repeatedly drove his approach irons tight to the flag stick and could have shot a 62 or 63 had his putting been sharp.

Par took a battering over the 7,000 yard Deerwood Country Club course.

Jack Nicklaus, who played with Miller, shot a 69.

"At least I'm hitting the ball better than I did at Doral," said Nicklaus. Asked about Miller, Nicklaus said:

"I've said for a long time that I felt Tom Welskopf and John Miller have the best swings on the tour, at least the kind of swing that I like. And I guess I'd have to say that Miller, technically, has the best swing on the tour."

Sanders, who was tied for second with five others at 67, described his use of the twofor as "a kind of rake stroke." Despite his success Thursday, he said he would return to a conventional putter Friday.

"My putter suddenly took sick," Sanders quipped afterward. "Actually the shaft was softer than I thought. I'll do anything to get my name in the newspapers."

Tied with Sanders at 67 were rookie Tom Kite, unheralded Ralph Schlicht, Steve Melnyk, who makes his home here, Allen Miller, a 24-year-old from Pensacola, Fla. and Homero Mancos of Houston, Texas.

Kite, considered the most promising young player in the game, lost a share of the lead when he bogeyed the last hole.

Kite, like Johnny Miller, hit his irons with superb accuracy and had several easy putts for birdies.

Schlicht, so obscure a player that he is not even listed in the PGA Player's Guide, said "if the putts go in it's an easy game." The 30-year-old Schlicht, a University of Wisconsin grad, roped in putts of 50, 25, 20 and 10 feet during his round.

Melnik said he played "about as solid a round as I've played this year." He had six birdies, two of them coming on 15-foot putts, the rest from under six feet.

Allen Miller had five birdies and 13 pars in his methodical round. His longest putt was an eight footer.

Nicklaus was tied with a large group of players at 69, including Bruce Crampton, the second leading money winner this year.

Nicklaus cracked after finishing his morning round he thought someone would shoot a 62. No one did, but Nicklaus, if he gets his putter going, could well do it. He repeatedly missed makeable putts Thursday and he noted afterward he had shot a 59 during an exhibition match in Palm Beach earlier in the week. "It was the first time I ever broke 60," he said.

Defending champion Tony Jacklin shot a one-under-par 71 and called it "a blah round, unimpressive golf."

Providence, Maryland get NCAA Eastern wins

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — Providence smashed sluggish Pennsylvania 87-65 and 10th-ranked Maryland overpowered Syracuse 91-75 Thursday night in the NCAA Eastern Regionals.

The two winners meet Saturday afternoon, with the victor to represent the East in the national championships in St. Louis next week.

Jim O'Brien, who finished with 22 points and freshman guard John Lucas, who had 21, scored repeatedly with layups on the fast break against a Syracuse full-court press that seldom worked in the second half.

Sharp shooting by guard Jim Duval kept Syracuse ahead much of the first half, which ended with Maryland ahead 35-34, but the tiring Syracuse starters lagged in the second half as Maryland coach Lefty Driesell constantly sent in fresh troops.

Syracuse was held scoreless for almost four minutes in the second half as Lucas and O'Brien poured in points to put the Terps ahead by 14, and the game was never close in the last 15 minutes of the second half.

Maryland's Tom McMillen and Len Elmore, with height on their opponents, got the best of the rebounding match, and McMillen added 18 points for Maryland, runner-up in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Elmore ended with 16 rebounds.

Duval was dangerous with jump shots from 10 to 30 feet out, but Syracuse's defense was no match for the aggressive Terps.

Providence center Marvin Barnes hit 20 points and his team threw up a tight zone defense which Penn, the Ivy League champion, was never able to match.

K-St., Memphis State meet in Midwest final

HOUSTON (UPI) — Junior center Larry Kenon scored 34 points and grabbed 20 rebounds to lead Memphis State to a 90-76 victory over South Carolina Thursday night in the first round of the NCAA Midwest Regional.

Memphis State's first victory in history in the NCAA Tournament put the Tigers, 22-5, in Saturday's final against Kansas State, which beat Southwestern Louisiana, 66-63, in the first game of the regional doubleheader.

Memphis State, the Missouri Valley champion, outscored South Carolina, 19-4, during a nine minute period of the first half. The Tigers were leading 18-14 with 11 minutes remaining in the half when Kenon, Ronnie Robinson and Larry Finch started the surge.

Kenon scored eight points, Robinson hit six, Finch added five and Memphis State rolled to a 37-18 margin with two minutes to go in the half.

Finch finished with 25 points and Robinson had 11 points and 17 rebounds as Memphis State had a 60-33 rebounding edge.

Freshman center Alex English led South Carolina with 19 points and Kevin Joyce had 18.

Tohill remains critical

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — "Texas Christian football coach Billy Tohill was in critical condition but improved today, according to doctors treating him for injuries suffered in a high-speed auto crash."

"Coach Tohill remains on the critical list," said Dr. Charles A. Crenshaw at a mid-morning news conference. "However, since 11 a.m. today he has rallied, is out of shock, is awake and is communicating with his family."

"His blood pressure, lungs, kidneys and heart functions are normal."

Crenshaw, director of the department of surgery at John Peter Smith Hospital, said Tohill would remain in the hospital's intensive care unit for at least another two days.

He said another medical bulletin would be issued at 3 p.m.

Providence's running game, led by star guard Ernie DiGregorio, produced a second half scoring burst that turned a 12-point lead into a 20-point margin in four minutes of the second half.

Pennsylvania, known more for its defense than scoring punch this season, failed to puncture Providence's zone, and hit on only 20 per cent of its shots in the first half, compared to Providence's 60 per cent.

Don Hagler and Phil Hankinson led Penn, Hagler with 16 and Hankinson with 15.

Kentucky and Indiana win in NCAA Mideast

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Kentucky had to go into overtime to defeat Austin Peay, 106-100, after Indiana whipped Marquette, 75-69, Thursday night in the NCAA Mideast regional playoffs.

Kentucky, the Southeastern Conference champion, and Indiana, champion of the Big Ten, meet Saturday afternoon for the right to advance to the national finals at St. Louis next week.

Austin Peay, the Cinderella team that rose from the Ohio Valley Conference cellar to the league title in a year, unleashed an incredible barrage of shots against the Wildcats.

With big Jim Andrews scoring almost at will for the Wildcats, the game saw-sawed back and forth. Kentucky jumped ahead for the first time on two points by Andrews, 69-67, with 9:38 to go.

The Wildcats pulled ahead 92-88 in the game's waning moments but six points in the last two minutes on buckets by Williams, fellow freshman Danny Odums and Childress, tied it up with 41 seconds left.

Howard missed a jumper at the buzzer to send the match into overtime. The Gov's jumped off to a four-point lead in overtime, but Andrews tied it up at 96-96 with 2:20 to go. Andrews then hit for two more, putting the score at 100-96 and the Southeastern Conference champions led the rest of the way.

Sixth-ranked Indiana, bolstered by senior John Titter's clutch shooting, came from behind to down Marquette in the opener.

Marquette's Warriors roared off to an early lead, jumping ahead by eight, at 10-7, with 16:30 to play in the first period. Led by the shooting of 6-1 Marcus Washington, the Warriors led convincingly throughout the first half and went into the dressing room at intermission leading 38-35.

New world marks set in Moscow

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — Three coeds, including Olympic Gold Medalist Cathy Carr, set records Thursday during preliminaries for the fourth annual Women's Swimming and Diving Championships at the University of Idaho.

Miss Carr of the University of New Mexico, who won the 100-meter breaststroke at Munich, swam the 50-yard breaststroke in a time of 31.779 seconds beating the 32.3 mark set by East Strobsburg State's Mary Pakenas in 1971.

Lobby Tullis of Arizona State University set a 100-yard backstroke record at 1:00.539, taking the title from Indiana State University's Brenda Christ, who swam the event at 1:00.88 in 1972.

Lobby Tullis of the University of New Mexico set the 100-yard freestyle record at 54.831, which beats a record held by Patricia Caffery of Syracuse University of 55 second flat set in 1971.

Miss Carr was followed by two other Olympic contenders, Rutgers University's Judy Melick and Silver Medalist Dana Schoenfeld of UCLA, both of whom beat the early record time.

The meet concludes Saturday.

Walton wins UPI Naismith Trophy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bill Walton of UCLA, regarded by many as the best big man ever to play collegiate basketball, Thursday was named winner of the James A. Naismith Trophy as the United Press International's Player of the Year for 1972-73.

It marked the second Naismith Trophy in a row for the 6-foot-11 junior, who in his two years of varsity competition has led the Bruins to 56 consecutive victories. Only three other players — Oscar Robertson (1958-59-60), Jerry Lucas (1961-62) and Lew Alcindor (1967-68) — have ever been named UPI's Player of the Year more than once.

The Naismith Trophy, awarded annually by the Atlanta Tipoff Club, will be presented to Walton at a dinner in Atlanta on Sunday, April 1.

Walton won in a landslide this year in a balloting conducted of 105 sports writers and sportscasters from across the nation, the big redhead received 177 votes. All-America sophomore David Thompson of North Carolina State was second with 11 votes and Ernie DiGregorio of Providence was third with three votes.

"I'm really pleased but the thing you have to realize is that in a team sport like basketball that awards honoring individuals in effect honor the team," said Walton about being named the country's No. 1 player again. "I'm really pleased UPI has honored our team No. 1 and I hope the next couple of weeks we can live up to it."

Walton, who was devastating as a sophomore last season, was even better this year. He led the Bruins in both scoring (19.8) and rebounding (17.8) but it was on defense where he made his presence felt most. Extremely quick and agile for his size, Walton guards the basket like a sentry and opposing teams find it almost impossible to score from underneath.

Though Coach John Wooden doesn't like to compare one player to another, he has stated that he thought Walton was further advanced in many aspects of the game than Bill's predecessor at UCLA, Alcindor, now known as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Defense was one of those aspects.

"I definitely feel I'm a better player this season," said Walton. "I'm stronger, a year older and mentally I know more what to do in a game."

There has been talk that Walton might forgo his senior year and apply as a hardship draft for a shot at the big money next season, but he has not yet made up his mind about it.

"I don't have any plans for next year yet. I'm not thinking about anything right now except final examinations on campus (history major) and defending our national championship," he says.

UCLA tips A-St. 98-81, SF upsets Long Beach

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Red-haired Bill Walton, the reigning king of college basketball, scored 20 points and Larry Hollyfield added 20 Thursday night to lead No. 1 ranked UCLA to a 98-81 victory over Arizona State in the NCAA West regional playoffs.

Unheralded University of San Francisco upset third-ranked Cal State Long Beach in the opener as Mike Quick scored 25 points, 17 in the second half, to lead USF to its 77-67 win.

The Bruins, seeking their seventh successive national title and ninth in 10 years, play the Dons who lost an earlier meeting by 28 points in the finals of the regionals Saturday at 3:10 p.m. PST.

Named UPI's player of the year for the second straight season Thursday, Walton had 18 of his points in the second half against Arizona State, leaving the game with the Bruins leading 84-60 and 6:30 to go. UCLA's 6-foot-11 superman also picked off 14 rebounds.

Hollyfield, 6-4 senior guard, hit 18 of his points in the first half as the Bruins built up a 61-37 lead.

Arizona State, the Western Athletic Conference winner, had held a 21-16 lead with 7:48 gone in the game, but the Bruins went on an 8-0 blitz for a 24-21

They outscored Arizona State 18-16 in the final 6:16 of the opening half for their 14-point halftime bulge.

Quick, a 6-foot-3 inch senior, scored eight of his second half points in the first four minutes of the period as the Dons built up a 37-31 halftime lead to a 47-35 edge.

Humiliated in last year's regionals by Long Beach by 20 points, the West Coast Athletic Conference champions got 20 points from Quick's backcourt mate, Bill Smith and 18 from 6-foot-9 forward Kevin Restani.

A 92-64 lacer to UCLA Jan. 19 at Pauley Pavilion, home of the Bruins, San Francisco went ahead to stay with 6:32 to go in the first half when Eric Pernsten hit a five-foot hook.

Trojans, Irish meet in NIT

NEW YORK (UPI) — Notre Dame versus Southern California. Sounds like a good football game, doesn't it?

But it's not that time of the year, right? So, this matchup will open the 30th annual National Invitation Tournament Saturday afternoon, not decide a football championship.

Nevertheless, the nationally televised contest should be an exciting one. Richard "Digger" Phelps got his nickname from his father, an undertaker, but lived up to his moniker by digging his team into the NIT with the worst regular season record (15-11) of any of the 16 competitors, and also dug his team into a complete reversal of form.

The Fighting Irish started the 1972-73 season losing six of their first seven games, but among these opponents were UCLA, Indiana and Kentucky, three NCAA-bound schools. "We found out what basketball is in a hurry," Phelps said.

After this start, the Irish won 12 of their next 17 contests to put themselves into the NIT for the second time—they were third in the 1968 tourney. "Actually, we won nine of our last 11," Phelps said. "We upset Marquette at home and broke their 81-game win streak there; beat St. John's in New York and South Carolina after they got an NCAA bid."

Notre Dame has a young team. John Shumate, who starts at center, is a sophomore, as are three of the other first five. Shumate, 6-foot-9, recovered from a blood clot around his heart sac to enable him to play this season.

The forwards are 6-3 Gary Brokaw and 6-8 Peter Crotty, and the guards are 6-7 Gary Novak, the only junior among the starters, and 5-11 Dwight Clay, the playmaker for the Irish.

Notre Dame likes to press on defense, using man-to-man and zone. On offense Phelps likes to run and shoot. "We like to go inside to Shumate if possible, or outside to Crotty or Brokaw," Phelps said.

Southern Cal (18-9) is the first Pacific-8 representative to come to the NIT, as the restriction on post-season tournaments for teams other than the conference champion was lifted just this year. The Trojans were rated in the top 20 at times this year, and finished second to UCLA in their conference.

But counterbalancing this are two intangibles—one, the Irish are considered to have played one of the toughest schedules in the country this season; and two, the Irish will have a strong contingent of local area alumni cheering them on one of the reasons the Irish are in the tournament.

Leading USC is Clint Chap man—one of the better players in the country, according to Phelps. The 6-8 sophomore forward averaged 16 points and nine rebounds this season. Dan Anderson, 6-2, Gus Williams, 6-1, and Brian Heublein, 6-3, all see action at guard, while 6-8 Bruce Clark and 6-7 Bill Lloyd son of Coach Bill Lloyd split time at the other forward position. Mike Westra, 6-10, occupies the pivot position.

Following the Irish-Trojan clash will be the American U. Louisville game. The Massachusetts-Missouri and North Carolina-Oral Roberts contests take place Saturday evening. New Mexico faces Virginia

Tech in a national TV game and Marshall plays Fairfield Sunday afternoon, and first round action closes Monday night with Rutgers meeting Minnesota and Manhattan facing Alabama.

The winners meet Tuesday and Thursday nights. The semifinals are Saturday afternoon, March 24 and the finals Sunday afternoon, March 25.

Seven drop out of AAU-Russian meet

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — An already depleted American squad suffered a critical setback Thursday night when it was announced world record holding pole vaulter Steve Smith would not compete in the U.S.-Russia track and field meet Friday night.

The reason for Smith's defection was still a mystery since the only explanation given by AAU officials was that he failed to board a plane from California on which he was scheduled.

That brought to seven the list of athletes who had planned to compete but changed their mind—or had their minds changed for them.

The bitter jurisdictional dispute between the AAU, which is sanctioning the dual meet, and the NCAA, which is not, has caught the athletes and their schools in the middle.

Five of the seven defections can be traced directly to the dispute. They are Jesse Stuart, last year's shotput winner in this meet from Western Kentucky; Randy Williams, Olympic gold medalist in the long jump from Southern California; Barry McClure, national triple jump champion from Middle Tennessee State; Chris Dunn, national high jump champion from Colgate; and Billy Rea, long jumper from Pittsburgh.

The other last minute dropout was Tracy Smith, national three-mile champion from Pasadena, Calif., who was forced to bow out because of the flu.

McClure had said earlier in the day that he would compete and that he had the backing of his school. His sudden change of plans and the fact that other outspoken athletes, including pentathlon hopeful Fred Samaras of Penn., have refused further comment on the AAU-NCAA feud, indicates a reluctance by some to stick their necks out too far.

Running of possible AAU suit against the NCAA to prevent it barring athletes from competing, remain lively though officials continued their silence.

ABA-NBA merger bill introduced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., Thursday introduced legislation which would permit the merger of the American and National Basketball Associations and protect the bargaining rights of professional basketball players.

In a statement Bayh said he was convinced without a merger "a substantial number of franchises would collapse, thereby reducing the opportunity for many Americans to view professional basketball."

The bill, besides exempting the two leagues from antitrust laws under certain conditions, would also do away with the so-called uniform players' contract containing what Bayh called a "restrictive option clause."

The measure would provide for a common draft and permit players to enter into one-year contracts with simple one-year options or multiple year contracts without options. Players could play out their options and become free agents able to negotiate with any club.

Veteran players could negotiate individual contracts, but the agreements could not include an option clause of more than one year and that clause could not be part of a uniform players' contract.

The Indiana senator said since the purpose of the legislation was to maximize the number of viewers, the bill "requires that as a condition of granting an antitrust exemption to the two leagues, that merger not result in fewer teams."

The antitrust exemption extends only to conditions necessary to the merger and to the common draft, which Bayh said is "a mechanism essential to ensuring balanced competition in a merged league."

He acknowledged inter-scholastic and inter-collegiate teams "also have a vital stake in this legislation" and said the bill was designed to prevent indiscriminate telecasts of professional games, which might hurt gate receipts for high school and college teams.

The measure, he said, would prohibit league telecasting—on either a live or delayed basis—on Tuesday, Friday or Saturday evenings between Nov. 1 and March 31.

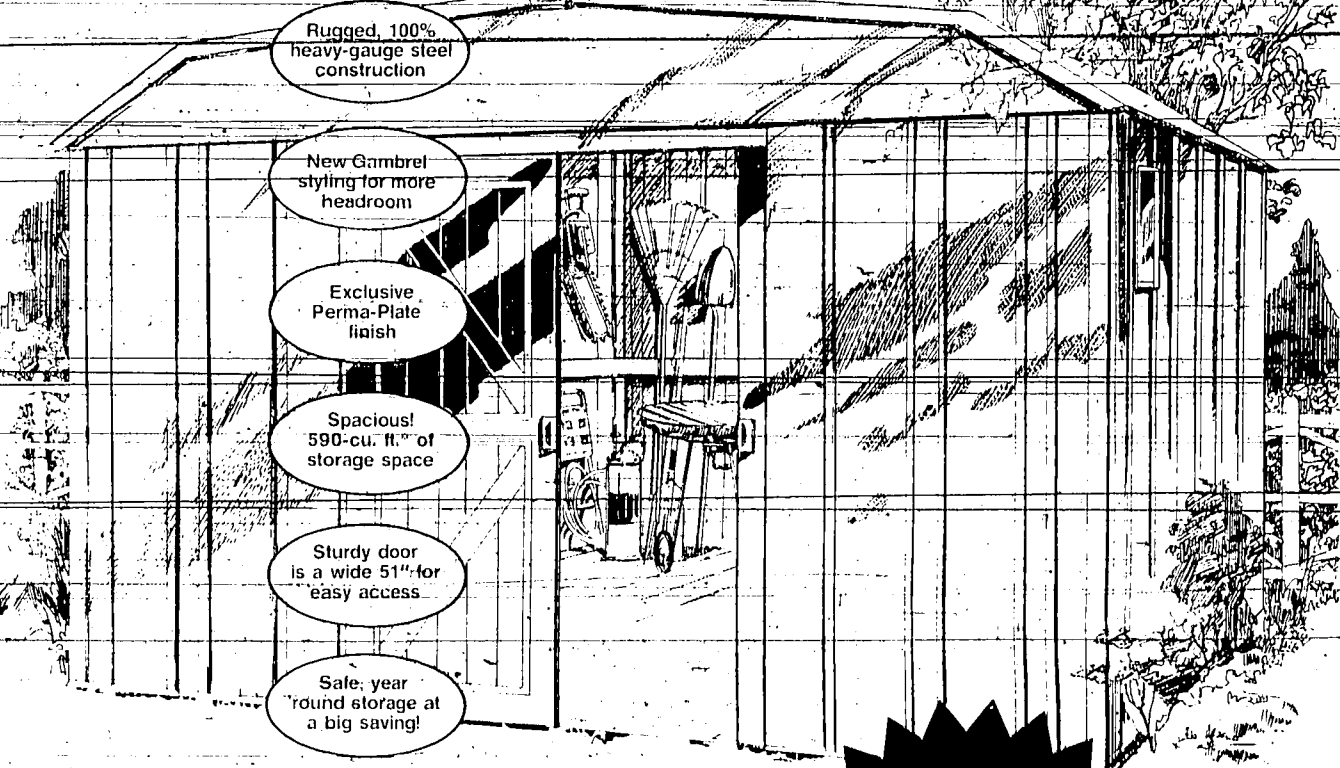

The limitation would apply to all stations within 75 miles of high school or college game sites.

Bayh said another provision of the bill would stipulate a common draft could not be held before May 1 to ensure "that a college player would not be tampered with until his academic and athletic year had ended."

Sens. Marlow Cook, R-Ky., and Frank Moss, D-Utah, cosponsored the bill.

Valley ski resorts report new snow

TWIN FALLS — New snow ranging from 18 inches down to one inch is reported by ski resorts this week.

With only a few weeks remaining at most resorts, skiers are in for a treat, resort operators say, if current weather continues. Pomerelle lists 18 inches of new snow this week on a packed base of 34 inches at the lodge. The road has been plowed but chains or snow tires are required.

The resort reports clear weather with temperatures from 25 to 35 degrees. Pomerelle is operating seven days per week with bus service on weekends.

Magie Mountain has received 12 inches of new powder on a packed base with total depths now 48 inches at the lodge and 58 at the top of ski runs. The road and parking lots have been plowed and snow tires are recommended.

The area is now operating weekends only with buses running at 9 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Major runs are packed.

Soldier Mountain reports five inches of new snow during the week with total depths of 40 inches at the lodge and 45 inches at the top of ski runs. The road is plowed but snow tires or chains are recommended.

Clear weather is reported with temperatures between 30 and 40 degrees. An adult ski race is planned for Saturday.

Rotarun has one inch of new snow and a total base of 20 inches. The area operates weekends and on Tuesday and Thursday nights for night skiing from 7 to 10 p.m.

Sun Valley lists six inches of new snow since Sunday for a total depth of 36 inches at the top of Baldy, 44 at the Roundhouse and 24 on the valley floor. All runs, lifts and bowls are open.

Roads in the area are generally dry and clear. Temperatures are 25 to 35 degrees.

Snowmobiling is listed as good in the Valley area and excellent in the Fairfield vicinity with avalanche areas posted. It is reported very good in the South Hills.

Taxi?

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A woman rode in a taxi to a Pittsburgh National Bank office Wednesday, held up the bank and then escaped in the same taxi.

Police said the woman, about 25 and wearing a white babushka, handed a teller a note reading, "I have a gun. No alarm."

She ordered the teller to fill a paper bag with cash and then walked outside and jumped in the taxi.

Police tracked down the cab driver a few hours later. He told authorities he assumed the woman was a bank customer.

Bigwood awaits eco statement

KETCHUM — Further development work on the Bigwood Ski Area site in the Sawtooth National Recreation Area will be delayed pending completion of an environmental statement.

Gray Reynolds, superintendent of the SNRA, said the statement is now being prepared by US Forest Service personnel and it is expected the statement and review process will be completed within about six months.

The proposed ski area development is the first to be located in a national recreation area. It is 16 miles north of Ketchum just southwest of US Highway 89.

Springer Land Investment Inc., Ketchum, holds a special use permit to develop the area but until the environmental statement is filed with the Council of Environmental Quality further development will be withheld.

The National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, Reynolds said, requires federal agencies to prepare and file such statements for any proposed development which may constitute major impact on natural environment.

Development of the ski area will be guided by the environmental statement criteria, Reynolds said.

TF mayor proclaims

TWIN FALLS — Mayor John Christofferson has proclaimed the week of March 11-18 as International DeMolay week.

The organization is observing its 54th anniversary.

In his proclamation, the mayor depicts members as "young men from 13 to 21 years of age who are seeking to prepare themselves as better leaders and citizens for tomorrow by

$1 checkoff used

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About 2.8 per cent of the first 21 million persons to file income tax returns this year authorized the new $1 checkoff for financing presidential election campaigns.

The Internal Revenue Service gave the figure Wednesday, and pointed out that if the rate holds up until the filing deadline April 15, about 2.2 million of the expected 77 million taxpayers would use the checkoff.

Over a four-year period, the checkoff system would raise a sum far short of the estimated $95 million spent in the last presidential campaign. The checkoff law was enacted in 1971 to provide federal financing of presidential campaigns and to keep candidates from becoming indebted to private contributors.

Heyburn council approves court

HEYBURN — The Heyburn City Council approved a plan for a trailer court presented by three Heyburn residents at a meeting Wednesday evening. The plan, presented by Glen and Darrel Tilley and Glen Kidd, is for property in blocks 181 and 182 of the original townsite.

There were no protests to the 1973 budget, so it was adopted by the council.

The budget totals $600,975 compared to last year's total of $583,142.

City employees will install new irrigation lines as soon as weather permits.

A new contract for garbage collection will be drawn this spring when the present contract with Velton Teal expires. The service was discussed by the council, but no conclusions were drawn.

C. Fred Dailey was hired as summer recreation director. Approval was given to three city employees to attend seminars concerning their areas of employment. Rex Flavel of the sewer department will attend a sewer seminar in Boise, March 19-21.

Bob Despain, electric department, will attend a seminar on electricity in Salt Lake City, March 21 and 22, and Larry Burbank, head electrician, will attend an electrical engineering seminar in Boise March 28 and 29.

There will be a special meeting March 22 in order to conduct a hearing on changes to the zoning ordinance and adopt a building code. The council will also decide at the meeting who will represent the city at the Association of Idaho Cities convention this spring. A new pickup will be purchased for the irrigation department. Bids will be called for at a later meeting.

Michelin Radials last twice as long as bias-ply tires.

An average driver will run up about 10,000 miles a year. At that rate, you can count on at least 4 years, or 40,000 miles from a Michelin steel belted radial tire. About double what you can expect from a bias-ply tire.

Why? Because they run cooler and reduce the risk of heat blowouts. They're flexible. And they absorb jolts like a cushion. You'll even save gas because they roll easier. Look into Michelin radial tires today.

Our radial specialists will help you select the right tire for your car!

Nixon lifts beef import tariffs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon announced plans Thursday to lift a 9.3 per cent tariff on imported beef in an effort to force down meat prices by increasing the supply. But again, he ruled out price controls on agricultural products.

The President told a news conference that if he thought controls would stop the upward spiral in meat prices, "I would impose them instantly."

Nixon said such controls would discourage production and "reap the consequences of increased prices later."

The President said he had just discovered that the United States still was collecting a tariff on beef imports. He lifted quota restrictions on meat imports last year and that suspension remains in effect.

Nixon said he had asked for a legal opinion on whether the tariff could be removed by executive order or if it required congressional action. He said he would lift it at once if he finds he can do so, or will ask Congress to remove it if congressional action is necessary.

The President said he was convinced his administration has done everything possible to control food prices, but that "if there is any further action that will work, we will do it."

The President also suggested that U.S. consumers try to drive down grocery prices by buying less expensive cuts of meat and cheaper food.

Asked if he would support a proposed April 1-7 meat boycott, Nixon said: "I'm not going to suggest to American housewives or any groups of Americans that they join in boycotts. On the other hand, the greatest and most powerful weapon against high prices is the American housewife."

Disrupted rail service brings chaos to Britain

LONDON (UPI) — Railway engineers stopped up their job action Thursday against the government's "no surrender" position on pay demands and a tougher line by British railroads about their working to rule.

Disrupted rail services brought chaos on roads leading to London as more persons came to work by car. The Royal Automobile Club reported bumper-to-bumper traffic on five main roads into London.

In other developments, a creeping strike by non-medical hospital workers affected 900 hospitals, forcing them to turn away all but emergency cases, send less serious patients home, serve frozen meals and burn soiled linen. Strikes by gasmen kept 4 million homes on reduced pressure.

The engineers, hospital workers and gasmen are leading the labor unions' drive for higher pay increases than the government's anti-inflation pay policy allows.

Workers who started a week-long strike at six hospitals in the Glasgow area Thursday withdrew an emergency food service they had promised. They said the management had tried strike-breaking.

Laundry workers at a Lancashire hospital who had already staged a one-week strike, stopped work again Thursday, complaining that the hospital management and staff had kept the laundry going during their absence.

Dockers and steel workers in the northwest staged a 24-hour strike, supporting building workers appearing in court on charges concerning incidents during last September's national building workers' strike. The strike halted work on 55 ships in the Mersey docks and held up work in the Shotton steelworks in Flintshire. Employment Secretary Maurice Macmillan told Parliament Wednesday the government did not intend to surrender to the railway engineers' pay demands.

Manila trembles

MANILA (UPI) — A mild earthquake shook Manila and its neighboring cities early Friday. The government's geophysical division in nearby Quezon City said the quake, recorded at 1:59 a.m. (10:59 a.m. Thursday MST), had an intensity ranging from one to three (weak) on the Rossi-Forrel scale of nine.

The division said the epicenter was located about 62 miles southwest of Quezon City somewhere in the vicinity of Labang Island, Mindoro province.

There were no immediate reports of casualties or damage.

TF man arrested

TWIN FALLS — Stephen B. Schray, 18, Twin Falls, was arrested Tuesday by Twin Falls police for possession of a controlled substance.

Schray was also charged with parole violation following his possession arrest. He remained in the county jail Thursday in lieu of $750 bond.

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) imposed civil penalties of $1,000 and $2,000 against Western Airlines and Frontier Airlines Thursday for allowing the man, identified as Ronald Lee Ellsworth, to board their planes without inspection.

Ellsworth said he was taking the dynamite home to blow up tree stumps in his yard.

East and west winners were Mrs. J. T. Shelby and Mrs. A. J. Landemer, first; Mrs. R. R. Watson and Mrs. V. L. Paynter, second; Mrs. J. Hahn and Mrs. A. J. Meeks, third; and Mrs. T. F. Marzocca and Mrs. A. W. Frantz, fourth.

Tournament play is scheduled for March 28. On Sunday there will be Swiss teams in Burley at the Ramada Inn.

St. Patrick's theme used

TWIN FALLS — Mary Jones used a St. Patrick's story and a poem for her librarian's report at a meeting of Bethel No. 56 Wednesday.

Patty Westbrook, honored queen, conducted the meeting. Since it was parents' night, several parents were in attendance.

$18.2 billion highway fund bill passed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has passed a three-year, $18.2 billion federal highway bill after refusing to allow bigger trucks and buses on interstate highways.

The bill now goes to the House, where the big-truck issue also appears to be dead because of its surrounding Senate defeat, but where an intense battle is expected over whether to allow use of some highway gas taxes for mass transit.

The House will begin hearings Tuesday on the bill.

Sources in the House said it was unlikely an effort would be made to allow states to permit bigger trucks and buses on interstate after the Senate defeated Thursday an amendment by Sen. Clifford P.

Hansen, R-Wyo., 67 to 23. The Hansen amendment would have removed all federal height and weight standards on interstate highways. States would then have been free to set their own standards.

When Congress began the interstate highway system in 1956, it set an overall limit for trucks and buses of 73,200 pounds in weight and 96 inches in width. It also set 18,000 pounds as the maximum for any one axle. However, the 13 states that already had higher limitations were allowed to keep those higher limits.

Hansen argued that the law discriminated against western states because most of those higher limit states were in the East.

Solons revive SST arguments

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A joint Senate-House panel declared today that all the arguments against federal financing of a supersonic transport plane are stronger now than when Congress shot down the SST in 1971.

In a report released by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., a joint economic subcommittee said an American SST should not be developed until its prospects attract private financing and environmental safeguards are adequate.

But Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, a member of the subcommittee, said the report was "nothing more than the views of Chairman Proxmire and certain members of the majority staff."

"The fact that the hearing on which the majority report is based was held on Dec. 27-28 speaks adequately to the point," he said.

He added, "having had a significant hand in killing the effort to build the test model, the committee's further effort at speculative criticism of possible dangers never definitely established, strikes me as a cheap shot and a waste of time, money, and passion."

But Proxmire, in a statement which accompanied the report, said "Congress was right when it cut off SST funds two years ago.

HEW scraps film

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has scrapped its plan to distribute a controversial film advocating legalized abortion to hundreds of public school systems, according to sources in the Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW).

The hour-long movie, which devotes about four minutes to abortion, was produced by a citizen's group which supports the recommendations made by the Presidential Commission on Population Growth and the American Future. The $170,000 project was killed after new HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger and his top aides responded to what were said to be "political" pressures.

The decision to kill the project was confirmed Thursday by Louis M. Hellman, deputy assistant HEW secretary for population affairs.

Demos call for troop withdrawal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic members of the Senate have called for a substantial withdrawal of U.S. military forces and closure of obsolete American bases overseas.

A resolution approved at a caucus of the senators Thursday said the pullback would "save billions of dollars and help, thereby, to halt inflation, strengthen the dollar and permit additional use of tax revenues for domestic purposes."

The closed meeting was described by some participants as "stormy" but the resolution passed by an overwhelming margin.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said the cost of maintaining current forces overseas is about $30 billion a year and that the price of participation in NATO is $17 billion. He described the U.S.-Soviet negotiations on a mutual pullback as "a last ditch stall." The talks, he said, simply prolong the drain on the United States and provide no bargaining power.

Environmentalists seek strip mining controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Environmental activists told a hostile Senate Interior Subcommittee Thursday stripmining should be either outlawed or permitted under strict reclamation controls.

Their testimony followed by one day charges by mining industry leaders any of the proposed bills before congress would not "let the industry survive."

Peter Borrelli of the Sierra Club told chairman Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., and other senators that conservationists now coal companies have turned to the "perverted technology" of strip mining in recent years "because it is cheaper to strip mine than to deep mine."

And they fear that the mayhem that has so disfigured the face of Appalachia and the spirit of its people will be allowed to spread through the country like cancer.

Nixon to veto aid bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon plans to veto a second time a bill providing aid to handicapped persons, White House sources said today.

They indicated the measure will be the initial test of wills among more than a dozen bills which Congress passed last year and which the President pocket vetoed, claiming they added more than their worth to the budget.

The bill provides $2.6 billion over three years in grants to states to operate programs for aid and job training for the handicapped. It was passed by the Senate and House Thursday and sent to the White House.

The amount is $900 million less than the measure Nixon vetoed last year. But it is some $800 million over the level the President said would be acceptable.

The bill is one of the most popular of those involved in the battle of the veto. But White House sources said the President would call for party loyalty among Republicans to sustain his veto.

Senate opens up sessions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Keeping a respectful distance apart, four reporters and 14 lobbyists sauntered into the Senate Finance Committee's chambers and precedent that congressional graft was shattered.

Before them nine of the committee's 17 members sat in a semi-circle. An aide carried plastic cups of steaming coffee. Congressional technicians and Treasury technicians arranged themselves in a row.

About 95 per cent of California's energy needs are now provided by oil and gas.
